

Status of Dewaukee Lake – Beach

Update – August 15, 2008 1:00 pm

The blue-green algae testing has been completed and the test results indicate the levels of the toxin producing algae are safe therefore the beach will re-open.

The e-coli levels have been tested and are safe as well.

Although the beach will be open for swimming, due to the length of closure, there will be no lifeguards on duty for the remainder of the summer. Therefore swimming will be at your own risk.

The beach will close for the season after Labor Day weekend.
